

Welcome to Collect(Ed) August 2022

- items of interest curated for you and your peers by the iCentre

1. For your teaching PLN (Professional Learning Network)

Professor Anita Heiss AM

Wiradyuri. Author. Runner. Prof of Communications at UQ Advisory Board Member. Dr Anita Heiss is the author of non-fiction, historical fiction, commercial women's fiction, poetry, social commentary and travel articles. She is a regular guest at writer's festivals and travels internationally performing her work and lecturing on Aboriginal literature.

Anita's TEDx talk is well worth viewing.

DeadlyScience and founder Corey Tutt

Science is deadly! It is how we make sense of the world.

This organisation started after Corey Tutt found out remote schools were often critically under-resourced and set about providing science books to these schools. This has grown into an educational organisation that celebrates Indigenous people in STEM to continue that tradition through - inspiration, connections, innovations and discovery.

It is important to DeadlyScience to lead the way forward in celebrating what our first scientists achieved, and what our future scientists will discover in STEM.

Koori Mail

Established in May 1991, the Koori Mail is a fortnightly national newspaper reporting on the issues that matter to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people. The Koori Mail give Indigenous Australians a voice missing in the mainstream media. The Koori Mail is 100% Aboriginal community owned and controlled. The only audited national Indigenous newspaper, it reaches more than 100,000 readers.

First Nations Languages Map

From the shelves

Crossing Cultures: The Big Picture 'A Hidden History'

This kit can be used to teach key historical events and link these events to a contemporary perspective of how First Nations culture has been resilient. It provides an interactive big picture look at our 250-year history and beyond. Using seven posters, this kit will take learners through a historical journey to learn about how invasion, past Government policies and interventions have impacted Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

OPAC First Nations Dashboard:

Find out what books and resources the iCentre has to offer focusing on First Nations perspectives. We have created a Dashboard on the iCentre OPAC that displays the items in our collection for you. This visually engaging curation will save you much time when looking for these resources.

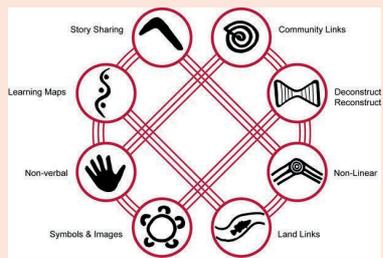

2. Classroom Pedagogy

Try using Aboriginal ways of learning

8 Ways: 8 Aboriginal Ways of Learning - Aboriginal Pedagogy

This is a pedagogy framework that allows teachers to include Aboriginal perspectives by using Aboriginal learning techniques. In this way, focus can remain on core curriculum content while embedding Aboriginal perspectives in every lesson.

3. Classroom Resources

Black Words: Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Writing and Storytelling. Hosted on the Austlit database, BlackWords provides access to a vast record of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander writers and their publications. Users will also discover links to access meaningful teaching and learning resources to help teachers embed Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders histories and cultures in their teaching and the classroom. The iCentre has a subscription to Austlit. You can find the database by choosing OPAC - One Search - Austlit. If you do not know the college username and password, don't hesitate to be in touch and we will share that with you.

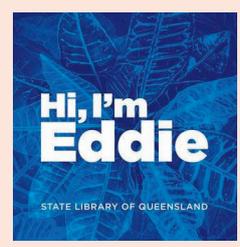

QCAA

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Protocols: Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander ways of working. A range of strategies and resources to assist educators improve their relationships with local communities by learning and respecting Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander protocols.

Podcasts/Vodcasts

Hi, I'm Eddie is a six-part series commissioned by the State Library of Queensland which introduces you to the man behind the headlines - Eddie Mabo. Host Rhianna Patrick brings you on a journey to get to know Eddie, and the case, to understand the legacy he left behind.